LSU FOOTBALL HEAD COACH

Dear Coaches,

We are very proud of the accomplishments of the 2010 LSU football team – 11 victories, a Cotton Bowl Championship and another Top 10 national finish. But now it's time to turn our attention to 2011 and what will once again be a very challenging schedule for the Tigers. In addition to the always tough Southeastern Conference schedule, we open the year against Oregon in Cowboys Stadium with another non-conference road game three weeks later against West Virginia.

Each year brings new opportunities and new challenges for your team and we will start addressing those during spring practice, which starts on March 11 and concludes with the annual National L Club Spring Game at 3 p.m. on April 9. ESPN will once again televise our spring game to a national audience, which brings great exposure to our program.

Our annual coaches clinic will take place on March 31-April 1 on the LSU campus. We have a great lineup of high school coaches along with our featured speaker – Jason Garrett, the new head coach of the Dallas Cowboys. Jason has a tremendous offensive mind and we are excited to have him come share his thoughts on the game of football with us. I hope that you and your staff can come join us for the clinic this year – it should be a lot of fun as we share ideas on our great sport.
