2004 Squad Breakdown

OFFENSE

The Tigers return six starters from an offense that set school records for points (475), first downs (298) and touchdowns scored. Heading the list of returning starters is 2003 Freshman All-America running back Justin Vincent along with second-team All-America center Ben Wilkerson. As a unit, the Tigers return 2,439 yards rushing and 23 of the teams' 24 rushing TDs from a year ago. On the other hand, the Tigers lose two of their top two receivers in Michael Clayton (78 rec., 1,079 yards, 10 TDs) and Devery Henderson (53 rec., 861 yards, 11 TDs). The Tigers also lost quarterback Matt Mauck, who opted to forgo his senior season to enter the NFL Draft. Mauck, a second-team All-SEC pick in 2003, threw a school-record 28 touchdowns after completing 229 of 358 passes for 2,825 yards.

Quarterbacks

Senior Marcus Randall enters the spring as the only quarterback on the LSU squad with any game experience. Randall has played in 22 games during his career with six starts, which includes the Cotton Bowl game against Texas to cap the 2002 season. In 22 games, Randall has completed 114 of 223 passes for 1,583 yards, nine touchdowns and six interceptions. Highly-regarded redshirt freshmen Matt Flynn and JaMarcus Russell are both expected to battle with Randall for the starting position this spring.

- 4 JaMarcus Russell
- 12 Marcus Randall →
- 15 Matt Flynn
- 16 Brian Farrar

Running Backs

Justin Vincent returns for his sophomore season in 2004 after setting an LSU freshman rushing record with 1,001 yards in 2003. Vincent, who was named MVP of both the SEC Championship Game and the Sugar Bowl, rushed for 201 yards and a pair of scores against Georgia in the SEC title game and then followed that with 117 yards and a TD against Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl. Vincent will be joined in the backfield by junior Joseph Addai (520 yards, 2 TDs in 2003), sophomore Alley Broussard (389 yards, 4 TDs), senior Shyrone Carey (338 yards, 6 TDs) and sophomore Barrington Edwards (169 yards).

- 2 Shyrone Carey
- 6 Tyler Olivier
- 10 Joseph Addai
- 22 Alley Broussard
- 23 Jason Spadoni
- 25 Justin Vincent →
- 26 Brandon Ledgister
- 32 Barrington Edwards
- 40 Shawn Jordan
- 44 Kevin Steltz

Wide Receivers

The loss of Michael Clayton and Devery Henderson leaves junior Skyler Green as the Tigers' top returning wide receiver. Last year, Green ranked third on the squad with 48 catches for 519 yards and 5 TDs, including the game-winner against Georgia in September. Joining Green as a wideout for the Tigers will be sophomores Dwayne Bowe (9 rec., 106 yards in 2003) and Craig Davis (7 rec., 63 yards) and redshirt freshman Amp Hill.

- 1 Amp Hill
- 3 Craig Davis
- 5 Skyler Green →
- 8 Terrell Clayton
- 13 Steve Mares
- 17 Bennie Brazell
- 28 Paul Coryell
- 38 Gino Giambelluca
- 80 Dwayne Bowe
- 85 Schirra Fields

Tight Ends

The Tigers return a pair of experienced players at tight end in senior Demetri Robinson and junior David Jones to go along with sophomore Keith Zinger. Last year, Jones caught 13 passes for 232 yards and a touchdown, while Zinger had three receptions for 31 yards. Robinson missed the last six games of the season with a groin injury, but he's expected to be at full strength when spring practice starts.

- 82 David Jones →
- 83 Kory Hebert
- 84 Andrew Wright
- 86 Caleb Angelle
- 88 Demetri Robinson
- 89 Keith Zinger

Offensive Line

Perhaps the strength of the Tiger offense will be that of the line, which will be led by senior center Ben Wilkerson, junior tackle Andrew Whitworth and junior guard Nate Livings. As a unit in 2003, the Tigers allowed only 22 sacks all season and they held their opponent without a sack in five of the final six regular-season games. Last year, Wilkerson earned second-team All-America honors from the Associated Press after starting all 14 games for the Tigers. In two years with the Tigers, Whitworth has started 27 games at tackle and has given up only 5 sacks, while being whistled for just 13 penalties. Livings started 10 games for the Tigers in 2003, missing four games midway through the year with a knee injury. Junior Rudy Niswanger and junior Terrell McGill both return as part-time starters for the Tigers and will be looked at to fill in for the departed Rodney Reed and Stephen Peterman on the line.

- 55 Ben Wilkerson →
- 59 Doug Planchard
- 62 Brandon Hurley
- 64 Rudy Niswanger
- 68 Terrell McGill
- 69 Garrett Wibbel
- 70 Dave Davis

- 73 Will Arnold
- 74 Josh Dicharry
- 75 Brian Johnson
- 76 Andrew Whitworth
- 77 Peter Dyakowski
- 78 Paris Hodges
- 79 Harold Bicknell

THE DEFENSE

The Tigers return seven starters from a defense that was considered the best in the nation in 2003 as LSU ranked first in the country in scoring (11.0 points per game) and total defense (252.0 yards per game). The Tigers also ranked among the national leaders in rushing defense (67.0 yards per game), pass defense efficiency (89.8 rating) and pass defense (185.0 yards per game). Heading the list of returning starters for the Tigers are cornerback Corey Webster, linebacker Lionel Turner, defensive end Marcus Spears and safety LaRon Landry.

Defensive Line

Gone from last year's team is all-everything defensive tackle Chad Lavalais, a likely high draft pick in this spring's NFL Draft. Back in the trenches for the Tigers however will be first-team All-SEC pick Marcus Spears along with Kyle Williams, an honorable all-conference selection. Junior Melvin Oliver and sophomore Kirston Pittman both played valuable minutes last year and could be counted on to step in to fill the void left by the departure of Lavalais and defensive end Marquise Hill. In addition, junior college transfer Claude Wroten joined the Tigers for bowl practice and will go through spring drills and will add quality depth to the defensive front.

- 48 Jarvus Ryes
- 49 Kirston Pittman

Linebackers

The return of starters Lionel Turner and Cameron Vaughn makes the linebacker position one of the strengths of the Tiger defense heading into spring practice. Turner, a senior, finished second on the team with 78 tackles a year ago and he capped his junior campaign with nine tackles and two sacks against Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl. Vaughn had 55 tackles in 14 games for the Tigers in 2003. Kenneth Hollis, a junior college transfer, redshirted last year for the Tigers and should make an impact this year as will redshirt freshmen Darius Ingram and Dominic Cooper along with true freshman Ali Highsmith.

Defensive Backs

With the return of three of four defensive backs, including first-team All-America Corey Webster and Freshman All-America LaRon Landry, the Tigers should once again be difficult to throw against in 2004. Webster, who ranks second in school history with 14 career interceptions, will start for the third straight year at cornerback with second-year starter Travis Daniels holding down the other cornerback spot. Landry will be in charge of the deep part of the field after starting most of last season as a free safety. Other players expected to step in and contribute this year are senior Ronnie Prude, sophomores Jesse Daniels, Daniel Francis and newcomer Mario Stevenson, who was considered one of the top defensive backs in the Juco ranks a year ago.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Sophomores Chris Jackson and Ryan Gaudet return to handle the kicking duties for the Tigers as the duo split the responsibilities last year with Jackson handling the kickoffs and Gaudet doing most of the placekicking. The departure of Donnie Jones leaves the punter position up for grabs with Jackson, along with redshirt freshman Patrick Fisher, battling for that spot. Skyler Green, who led the nation in punt return average in 2003, returns as LSU's return specialist, while Gant Petty will continue to serve as the snapper on both punts and placekicks.

Nick Saban

For years outsiders viewed the LSU football program as an unpolished gem, a potential giant waiting to be reborn in the world of college football. With the wealth of resources LSU has to offer, its tradition and the available talent within the state of Louisiana, all the program needed was the right leader to lead it. In four years as head coach of the Tigers, Nick Saban has proven that he is that leader.

Since taking over a program that suffered through seven losing seasons in the 1990s, Saban has guided the Tigers to the pinnacle of college football - winning the 2003 BCS National Championship with a 21-14 victory over Oklahoma in the Nokia Sugar Bowl. The victory culminated a four-year ride under Saban that has been unmatched in the history of Tiger football. Since taking over in 2000, Saban has guided the Tigers to a 39-13 overall mark, while claiming a pair of SEC titles in 2001 and 2003. LSU's 2003 BCS National Championship is just the second for the Tigers in football, and the first since 1958.

Saban's ability to successfully lead the Tigers comes from a management style that focuses on the entire program, one that puts his players in position to have success, both on the field and in the classroom. Armed with a plan that starts with recruiting quality people, outstanding football players and good students, Saban and his staff have transformed LSU into a team that is sure to be a fixture among the nation's elite programs for years to come.

On the field, Saban has developed a reputation as a defensive mastermind who is among the best in the game - professional or college - when it comes to game day coaching decisions. His defenses are physical, aggressive and deceptive, while offensively, the Tigers put up staggering numbers with a wealth of skill players leading the way.

Off the field, Saban demands excellence from his players in both the classroom as well as the community. There's not a week that goes by that at least one member of the LSU football team is not out speaking to a group somewhere in the Baton Rouge community. Whether it's talking to an elementary school or visiting sick children in the hospital, Saban's team has made a positive impact on many people in the state of Louisiana.

When it comes to education, Saban has long been an advocate of getting a degree. He's often been quoted as saying that he's never seen a person better off without a college degree than with one. As a result, he played a key role in raising most of the $15 million for LSU's state-of-the-art Cox Communications Academic Center for Student-Athletes. The center, the best of its kind in college athletics, features a 1,000-seat auditorium with over 100 computers in a 54,000-square foot facility that gives all of LSU's student-athletes the best chance to have success in the classroom.

Saban's mission statement for the LSU football program is simple. He wants his players to become better people for having been a part of the program. He also wants to develop his players so they can reach their full athletic potential, which will enable them to have the opportunity to win a championship. Finally, it's his plan to help each player graduate and launch their career so that when they leave LSU they can have the best opportunities in life.

Four years at LSU have produced dozens of graduates, a pair of SEC championships and a national title as well as student-athletes who are both admired and looked up to in the community. So far, it's been mission accomplished under Nick Saban.

Saban became the 31st head coach of the LSU Tigers on November 30, 1999, after five years as head coach at Michigan State. Saban's first four years at LSU have produced a 39-13 overall mark, which included a school-record 13-1 mark and a No. 1 national ranking in 2003. In addition, Saban was named the Associated Press National Coach of the Year as well as being the recipient for the Bear Bryant Award and the Eddie Robinson Award in 2003. Saban's 39 wins are the most-ever by an LSU coach in four years and he joins Paul Dietzel as the only two coaches in school history to have multiple 10-win seasons (both have done it twice). Saban, along with Dietzel and Bernie Moore, are also the only coaches in LSU history to win more than one SEC title, with each doing it two times.

The 2003 Tigers stormed their way to the national title with a remarkable defense, one that ranked first in the nation in points per game (11.0) and total defense (252.0 yards per game), while also holding 13 of the 14 opponents to fewer than 20 points. The defense scored a school-record seven touchdowns, including the game-winning points on a Marcus Spears interception return against Oklahoma in the Nokia Sugar Bowl.

While the defense was holding teams at bay, the Tiger offense was spectacular in its own right, scoring a school-record 475 points and averaging 33.9 points per game. The Tiger offense, behind the play of quarterback Matt Mauck, set the school standard for passing touchdowns (30), offensive touchdowns (56), completed passes (255) and first downs (298).

Using the approach of taking it one game at a time and focusing on "what is" rather than "what was", the Tigers ran the table the final six weeks of the regular season, dominating opponents on both sides of the ball. After a 19-7 setback to Florida on Oct. 11, the Tigers won their final six games by an average score of 35 to 10. Only Ole Miss came within a touchdown of the Tigers during that 6-game stretch, a run that included a 31-7 win over Auburn, a 27-3 victory over Alabama and a 55-24 victory over Arkansas. LSU stamped its ticket to the BCS National Championship game with a dominating 34-13 win over Georgia in the SEC title game, marking the second conference championship in three years for the Tigers.

The Tigers put an end to its magical season with another dominating defensive effort against a high-powered Oklahoma team in the Sugar Bowl. The Tigers held the Sooners to only 154 yards of offense and just 54 yards rushing in the 21-14 victory in the Sugar Bowl.

Saban's impact at LSU was immediate as he guided a team coming off back-to-back losing seasons to an 8-4 mark and a win over 15th-ranked Georgia Tech in the 2000 Peach Bowl to rekindle the fire of a proud football tradition in Baton Rouge.

Saban's influence on the Tigers went much further in 2001 as he led LSU to the school's first outright SEC title since 1986 with a 31-20 win over second-ranked Tennessee in the SEC Championship game. The Tigers closed out their 10-3 campaign in 2001 with a 47-34 thrashing of Big 10 Champion Illinois in the Sugar Bowl.

A year after losing two of the most prolific offensive players in school history in quarterback Rohan Davey and wide receiver Josh Reed, Saban used a tenacious defense coupled with a steady offense to lead the 2002 Tigers to an 8-5 overall mark and the school's second straight appearance in a New Year's Day bowl. LSU scored a school-record 30 or more points in six straight games in 2002, while the Tiger defense held the opposition to less than 275 yards in each of the first six games of the year.

A trademark of Saban-coached teams has been their ability to overcome adversity and still effectively perform on the field. In 2001, the Tigers had to overcome the loss of Davey and running back LaBrandon Toefield in the SEC Championship game, while in 2002 LSU prevailed despite losing starting quarterback Mauck midway through the season.

Beating Tennessee to win the league title in 2001 is one thing, but the fashion in which Saban and the Tigers did so speaks volumes on the impact he has had on his squads. Playing without two of their offensive standouts in Davey and Toefield, not only did the Tigers respond to Saban's challenge to step up, but they were dominant, outscoring the high-powered Vol offense 21-3 in the second half.

A year later, LSU found itself in a similar situation, losing three starters - Mauck, Toefield and free safety Damien James - in consecutive weeks. LSU overcame that adversity and found itself heading into the final week of the 2002 season with a chance at reaching the SEC Championship game. Only a last-minute comeback by Arkansas kept the Tigers from winning its second consecutive SEC Western Division title and participating in the league's championship game.

Losing players such as Mauck, Davey and Toefield and still finding a way to be successful on the field has been a trademark of Saban-coached teams. Teaching the players to trust and believe in each other is a characteristic that Saban has branded on his squads. The philosophy of "out of yourself and into the team" is something that Saban instills on a daily basis into his squad. He also preaches to his teams to play for 60 minutes, to become a dominant team on every play of every game, and not worry about what the scoreboard reads. The players respond.

That couldn't have been more true than the "Bluegrass Miracle" as Marcus Randall's 75-yard Hail Mary pass to Devery Henderson as time expired gave the Tigers an unlikely 33-30 win over Kentucky in one of the wildest finishes to a football game in LSU history.

Prior to his arrival at LSU for the 2000 season, Saban led his final Spartan team in 1999 to a No. 7 ranking in the nation and became the first Michigan State squad to win 10 games in one season in 34 years.

Saban's 1999 Michigan State team defeated Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State and Penn State all in the same year for the first time since 1965 and recorded six wins at home for the first time since the 1912 season.

Saban has long been revered in football coaching circles as one of the keen minds of the game, having coached under some of the best football technicians in the country on both the college and professional levels.

He built his reputation as an assistant coach, but as a head coach he has shown the ability to put together a total program, one that produces big numbers on both sides of the football while stressing discipline and responsibility off the field.

"He's a first-rate person and he's a marvelous football coach," said Bill Polian, the president of the NFL's Indianapolis Colts, who is considered one of the premier minds in professional football. "He brings all the right values to the position and to the job. He believes in an exciting and up-tempo offense and yet his teams are always terrifically sound and very physical."

Saban's background in football is rich and varied. He coached in the NFL under Bill Belichick at Cleveland and under Jerry Glanville at Houston. He is a protégé of George Perles at Michigan State and Earle Bruce at Ohio State. He got his start under venerable Washington coach Don James as a graduate assistant at Kent State.

"No-nonsense" is one description of his style of coaching, but consistent and exacting might be more precise. "Hard work" can be attached to any successful program, but also working smart is a trademark of Saban coached teams. The keys to Saban's success are founded on aggressive and disciplined leadership and a philosophy of personal responsibility both on the football field and in the classroom.

"Basically, if anybody doesn't want to work hard or be committed to the way he's committed, then they're going to have a problem with him," said

Belichick, coach of the Super Bowl Champion New England Patriots. "Now, if they like to work, they won't have any problems at all."

Saban is a communicator who gets the best out of his players, a coach who can guarantee that a player willing to dedicate himself to the program will maximize his talents.

"Instead of looking at the overall picture, he gives his players something they can really lash their teeth into, which allows them to play more aggressively," said Dean Pees, the head coach at Kent State who served as a defensive coordinator under Saban. "There are a lot of guys who can draw up defenses in the dirt and draw X's and O's. The question is what little things can you find to help each player play his position? That's one thing Nick is good at."

Saban has a career win-loss record of 82-39-1 for a winning percentage of .674, a total that includes five years as head coach at Michigan State (1995-99), four seasons at LSU and one year at Toledo (1990). He also has extensive experience in the NFL, having coached the secondary of the Houston Oilers for two seasons (1988-89) and having served as defensive coordinator for the Cleveland Browns for four seasons (1991-94).

During his five-year tenure as head coach at Michigan State, Saban tutored four first-team All-Americans and 10 NFL draft picks. While at LSU, Saban has produced six first-team All-Americans and the Tigers have had 12 NFL Draft picks.

The 52-year-old Saban returned to Michigan State following four seasons as the Cleveland Browns' defensive coordinator from 1991-94. The Browns went from allowing the most points in the NFL prior to Saban's arrival to allowing the fewest points in 1994. His defensive unit allowed a league-low 21 touchdowns and 204 points in 1994, the sixth-fewest points surrendered in NFL history at the time.

Saban previously served as head coach at the University of Toledo where he guided the Rockets to a 9-2 overall record in 1990, including a share of the Mid-America Conference title at 7-1. The Rockets ranked among the NCAA leaders in both total defense (12th at 284.8 yards) and scoring defense (16th at 16.2 points). In his rookie season as a head coach, Toledo missed posting an undefeated record by only five points.

He began his first stint in the NFL with the Houston Oilers as the secondary coach from 1988-89. The Oilers ranked among the AFC leaders in interceptions in both 1988 (tied for second with 22) and 1989 (fourth with 21).

As secondary coach and defensive coordinator, Saban played an integral part in helping Michigan State to three postseason bowl appearances from 1983-87, including a Big Ten championship in 1987 and a 20-17 triumph over Southern California in the 1988 Rose Bowl. The Spartans led the nation in rushing defense in 1987, allowing only 61.2 yards per game, and ranked second in scoring defense, permitting 12.4 points.

His college coaching credits also include stops at the U.S. Naval Academy (1982), Ohio State (1980-81), West Virginia (1978-79), Syracuse (1977) and Kent State (1975-76). While coaching the secondary at Ohio State, he helped produce four NFL draft choices.

He began his coaching career in 1973 as a graduate assistant at his alma mater Kent State. A defensive back for the Golden Flashes from 1970-72, Saban played in the 1972 Tangerine Bowl against Tampa. He also picked up two letters as a shortstop on the Kent State baseball team.

Born October 31, 1951, in Fairmont, W.Va., Saban earned his bachelor's degree in business from Kent State in 1973 and his master's in sports administration in 1975. Saban, who is an avid golfer, co-authored "Tiger Turnaround" in 2001, a 128-page book documenting his first two years in Baton Rouge.

He and his wife, the former Terry Constable of Fairmont, W.Va., have two children, Nicholas and Kristen.

Mike Collins

Linebackers

Mike Collins, who served as an intern with the LSU football program during the 2003 national championship season, will serve as linebacker coach for the Tigers in 2004.

Collins, a native of Ruston, La., accepted the position with the Tigers in late February after spending a month as the defensive coordinator at Middle Tennessee.

Prior to his internship with LSU, Collins coached at Louisiana-Monroe for five years, first as a linebacker coach in 1998 and then as the defensive coordinator for three years. He took over as interim head coach at Louisiana-Monroe three games into the 2002 season before being named the teams' permanent head coach on Nov. 20 of that year. Collins led the Indians to a 3-6 mark over the final nine games.

He resigned from his position as head coach at Louisiana-Monroe in the spring of 2003 and then joined the Tigers during the summer.

Collins got his start in coaching as a graduate assistant at Louisiana-Monroe in the mid-1980's. From there, he served as an assistant coach at Ouachita Parish High School before joining the staff at McNeese State as linebacker coach in 1991.

Collins coached at McNeese State for seven years, helping the Cowboys to three Southland Conference titles as well as an appearance in the I-AA national championship game. While at McNeese, Collins coached six All-America selections as well as the Southland Conference Defensive Player of the Year three times.

Collins is a 1983 graduate of Louisiana-Monroe, where he lettered for four years as a center in football. He earned his master's degree from Louisiana-Monroe in 1984.

He is married to the former Terri Brinson and the couple has two children, John Michael and Matt. He is the son of Pat Collins, who led Louisiana-Monroe to the 1987 I-AA national title.

Derek Dooley

Assistant Head Coach Special Teams Coordinator/ Running Backs

Derek Dooley enters his fifth season with the Tigers in 2004 and during his time in Baton Rouge, he's proven his versatility having served as coach for two positions, while also overseeing LSU's recruiting efforts and serving as the special teams coordinator.

In his first year as LSU's running backs coach and special teams coordinator in 2003, Dooley made his impact felt right away.

Freshman running back Justin Vincent became the first rookie in LSU history to rush for 1,000-yards, which included an SEC Championship game record 201 against Georgia in the league title game. Vincent, who was a Freshman All-America as well as being named MVP of both the SEC title game and the Sugar Bowl, finished with 1,001 yards rushing and 10 touchdowns. Vincent capped his record-setting freshman season with 117-yards rushing and one TD against Oklahoma in the national championship game.

On special teams, the Tigers ranked among the league leaders in all but one category, including leading the SEC in net punting, kickoff coverage and punt returns. Punt returner Skyler Green returned two punts for TDs and led the nation in punt return average with 18.5 yards per return.

Following the 2003 national championship season, Dooley was promoted to assistant head coach for the Tigers.

Dooley, who has now helped lead the Tigers to four straight bowl games, two SEC titles and to the 2003 national title, is no stranger to successful SEC football programs. Dooley, who spent his first three years on the staff as tight ends coach and recruiting coordinator, is the son of legendary Georgia football coach Vince Dooley.

In his first three years with the Tigers, Dooley played a key role in the development of LSU's tight end corps, a group considered to be among the finest in the nation.

As LSU's tight ends coach, Dooley helped develop Robert Royal into one of the nation's premier tight ends. In 2001, Royal caught 18 passes for 224 yards and one touchdown. Royal capped his career ranked third in LSU history among tight ends for receptions (59) and yards (707), and ranked second in receiving touchdowns (7). Royal also set the LSU record for tight ends for touchdowns in a season with five in 2000. Following his senior season, Royal was drafted in the fifth round of the 2002 NFL Draft by the Washington Redskins. Royal earned first-team All-SEC honors in both 2000 and 2001, while Marcus Spears, now a defensive end for the Tigers, earned a spot on the Freshman All-SEC squad as a tight end.

As recruiting coordinator, Dooley engineered the nation's top recruiting classes in 2001 and 2003. In a spring 2004 poll, Dooley was named college football's fourth-best recruiter by the Sporting News.

Prior to his arrival at LSU, Dooley spent three seasons at SMU. While at SMU, he helped develop a young group of receivers, including Albert Johnson, who became the first player in SMU history to have three straight multiple touchdown games. In 1999, Dooley helped develop two true freshmen, Chris Cunningham and Cody Cardwell, who caught 70 passes for 1,039 yards and eight touchdowns.

A native of Athens, Ga., Dooley attended the University of Virginia, where he walked on the football team and earned a scholarship following his second season. While at Virginia, Dooley participated in three bowl games (Sugar, Citrus, All-American) and helped the Cavaliers win the 1989 ACC Championship. In 1990, Dooley was named First Team Academic All-ACC and was invited to participate in the Senior Bowl.

He graduated from Virginia in 1990 with a bachelor's degree in government and foreign affairs, then went on to earn his law degree from Georgia in 1994. Dooley served as a graduate assistant coach at Georgia in 1996 before going to SMU in 1997.

Dooley and his wife, Allison, have two sons, John Taylor and Peyton, and a daughter, Julianna.

Jimbo Fisher

Offensive Coordinator/ Quarterbacks

One of the nation's top offensive minds, Jimbo Fisher enters his fifth season as LSU's offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach. In four years with the Tigers, Fisher's offense has set numerous school records while developing the reputation as being one of the SEC's most potent and balanced units.

Fisher's 2003 offense may have been the best from a production standpoint as the Tigers averaged 34 points per game on their way to scoring a school-record 475 points while also setting the school standard for first downs (298), completed passes (255) and passing touchdowns (30).

The Tiger offense featured tremendous balance last year, rushing for 186 yards per game, while throwing for another 233 yards per contest. In all, LSU averaged 418 yards per contest as the Tigers took advantage of their skill position weapons in Michael Clayton, Devery Henderson and Skyler Green. The three receivers combined for 179 receptions, 2,459 yards and 27 touchdowns.

Quarterback Matt Mauck completed his LSU career with an 18-2 overall mark after guiding the Tigers to a 13-1 record and the national title in 2003. Mauck tossed a school-record 28 TD passes on his way to earning second-team All-SEC honors for LSU.

In 2002, with a pair of first-time starters at quarterback in Mauck and Marcus Randall, Fisher guided an LSU offense to average 350 yards per contest and nearly 25 points per game. LSU scored 30 or more points seven times in 2002, including a school-record tying mark of six straight contests with at least 30 points during one stretch of the season.

In four years with the Tigers, Fisher has coached three LSU quarterbacks who have gone on to become NFL Draft picks. In addition, under Fisher's guidance, the Tigers have had one first-team All-SEC quarterback (Booty) and two second-team All-SEC selections (Davey and Mauck).

Perhaps Fisher's most impressive season with the Tigers came in 2001 as he developed Davey, then a first-time starter as well, into one of the nation's premier signal callers. In 2001, Davey set a total of six school-records during the regular-season and then broke another seven Sugar Bowl or LSU bowl records in the Tigers' 47-34 win over Illinois. For the year, Davey completed 217 of 367 passes for 3,347 yards and 18 touchdowns. He connected on 31 of 53 passes for 444 yards and three scores in the Sugar Bowl. Throw in Josh Reed's 94 receptions for an SEC record 1,740 yards and LSU's offense had two of the nation's most explosive players. Reed was named the winner of the Biletnikoff Award, the honor that goes to the nation's top wide receiver, while Davey was a second-team All-SEC selection.

In 2001, LSU's offense ranked second in the SEC and 11th in the nation in total offense (451.5 yards per game) and passing offense (298.2). LSU set seven school-records during the regular-season in 2001, including single-season yards of total offense (5,418), single-season passes completed (238), passing yards per game (298.5), total offense per game (451.5) and single-season passing yards (3,578).

Fisher's two finest moments as LSU's offensive coordinator came during the 2001 season in a 35-21 win over Alabama and a 31-20 victory over second-ranked Tennessee in the SEC Championship game. Against Alabama, LSU set a school-record with 528 passing yards, the most-ever recorded against the Crimson Tide. Davey tied an SEC record with 540 yards of total offense in the game, while Reed set SEC records for receptions (19) and receiving yards (293).

Against Tennessee and with starting quarterback Davey out of the game with an injury, Fisher altered the Tiger game plan to better suit second team quarterback Mauck. Mauck took advantage of his rushing skills to lead the Tigers to a 31-20 win and the SEC title.

In the Sugar Bowl, the Tigers racked up a Sugar Bowl record 595 yards of total offense, including 444 through the air, in their win over Illinois. LSU also set a Sugar Bowl record with 34 first half points, including 27 in the second quarter.

For his efforts in 2001, Fisher was named a finalist for the Broyles Assistant Coach of the Year Award.

In his first year with the Tigers, Fisher's influence on quarterbacks Booty and Davey was nothing short of remarkable as Booty was named First-Team All-SEC, while Davey earned Most Outstanding Offensive Player honors at the Peach Bowl. The first-team All-SEC honor for Booty marked the first time since 1989 that an LSU player earned all-league honors at quarterback.

In 2000, LSU ranked third in the SEC in passing offense with 245.3 yards per game and the Tigers were second in passing efficiency with a 129.4 rating. As a unit, the Tiger offense ranked fourth in the league in total offense with 376.4 yards a contest.

Prior to joining the Tigers, Fisher engineered one of the nation's most potent offensive attacks at Cincinnati in 1999. Cincinnati finished the 1999 season ranked No. 16 in the nation in total offense with an average of 424.4 yards a contest (172.2 rushing, 252.2 passing).

Before joining the Cincinnati staff in 1999, Fisher served as the quarterbacks coach at Auburn under Terry Bowden from 1993-98 where he tutored record-setting quarterbacks Stan White, Patrick Nix and Dameyune Craig, who is the only 3,000-yard passer in Auburn history. He helped lead Auburn to appearances in the 1996 Outback, 1996 Independence and 1998 Peach Bowls.

Fisher, a native of Clarksburg, W. Va., also served as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Samford for two years (1991-92) before joining the Auburn staff. He started his coaching career as a graduate assistant tutoring quarterbacks at Samford from 1988-90.

In college, Fisher played quarterback for Terry Bowden for three seasons, two at Salem College (1985-86) and one at Samford (1987). While at Samford he set the national record for touchdowns in a season with 34 and was named the Division III National Player of the Year that season. He also set 13 school passing and total offense records.

Following college, Fisher played for one season with the Chicago Bruisers of the Arena Football League in 1988.

Fisher, who graduated from Salem College in 1989, is married to the former Candi Coogler. The couple has one child, Trey, who is three.

Travis Jones

Defensive Line/
Recruiting Coordinator

Travis Jones enters his second year on the staff and he will take on an additional role for the Tigers in 2004, serving as LSU's recruiting coordinator, while continuing to coach the defensive line.

Jones made an immediate impact in his first year on the staff as LSU's defensive front played a key role in the Tigers' march to the national title. In fact, LSU's front four dominated the trenches, recording 31 of LSU's school-record 44 sacks, while also limiting opponents to only 67 yards rushing a contest, a figure that ranked first in the SEC and third nationally.

Individually, senior defensive tackle Chad Lavalais put together one of the most decorated seasons ever for an LSU player as he was a consensus All-America while also being named a finalist for both the Nagurski and Lombardi Awards. Lavalais was named National Defensive Player of the Year by the Sporting News as well earning SEC Defensive Player of the Year honors from the league's coaches. Lavalais finished the year with 16 tackles for losses, seven sacks and 23 quarterback hurries.

Defensive end Marcus Spears was named First-Team All-SEC in 2004 by the Associated Press after recording 13 tackles for losses and six sacks for the Tigers. Spears also intercepted a pass and returned it 20 yards for what proved to be the game-winning points against Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl.

Jones, a former defensive standout at Georgia, came to LSU after serving as a member of the Kansas coaching staff in 2001 and 2002. Jones coached the defensive line for the Jayhawks in 2001 and in 2002, he handled the Kansas defensive ends.

While at Kansas, Jones coached Nate Dwyer, now a member of the Arizona Cardinals, to first-team All-Big 12 honors in 2001.

Prior to his two-year stint at Kansas, Jones spent three years as linebacker coach and recruiting coordinator at Appalachian State. During his three years at Appalachian State, the Mountaineers advanced to the I-AA playoffs each year. He also coached three All-Southern Conference linebackers, including Joe Best, who was a finalist for the Buck Buchanan Award in 2000, which goes to the I-AA Defensive Player of the Year.

Jones began his coaching career at Georgia in 1997, coaching the defensive line for the Bulldogs. Georgia finished the 1997 season with a 10-2 overall mark and beat Wisconsin, 33-6, in the Outback Bowl.

A 1995 graduate of Georgia, Jones also worked as an NCAA Compliance assistant as well as an academic counselor at his alma mater. Jones earned a master's degree from Georgia in 1998. As a player, Jones was a four-year letterwinner for Georgia leading the Bulldogs to the Independence Bowl in 1991 and the Citrus Bowl in 1993. Jones started at defensive end at Georgia his last two seasons and as a senior, he was selected the defensive team captain.

Jones was selected by the Baltimore Stallions in the 1995 Canadian Football League draft. He played one season in the CFL and then joined the Florida Bobcats of the Arena League for one year in 1996.

A native of Irwinton, Ga., Jones is married to the former Melody Barden and the couple has one child, Kennedy (1).

Will Muschamp

Defensive Coordinator

Will Muschamp followed up his first year as LSU's defensive coordinator with an even more impressive performance in 2003, overseeing a Tiger defense that ranked first in the nation in both scoring (11.0 points per game) and total defense (252.0 yards per game). The Tigers also ranked third in the nation in rushing defense (62.0 yards per game), while holding 13 of the 14 opponents to fewer than 20 points on their way to claiming the 2003 national title.

In all, the Tigers ranked first in the SEC in seven different defensive categories, which included setting a school-record with 44 sacks. Featuring a defense that was big on speed, size and aggressiveness, the Tigers scored a school-record seven defensive touchdowns in 2003, including one in each of the final three games of the season. It was Marcus Spears' 20-yard interception return against Oklahoma in the national championship game that proved to be the winning points for the Tigers. Five of LSU's seven defensive TDs came on interception returns, while two were fumble returns.

When teams decided to throw on the Tigers, they found the challenge equally as difficult as LSU picked off 21 passes, while holding the opposition to an 89.8 pass efficiency, a figure that led the SEC and ranked second in the nation. Corey Webster led all Tigers with seven interceptions as LSU held its opponents to only 12 passing TDs all season.

Muschamp, now in his fourth season at LSU, served as the Tigers' linebacker coach in 2001 before being elevated to his current position in the spring of 2002. At 33 years of age, Muschamp is one of the youngest coordinators at the Division I level.

In his first year as LSU's defensive coordinator, Muschamp managed a Tiger defense that ranked among the best in the nation. LSU led the SEC and ranked second in the nation in pass defense (152.7 yards per game) and the Tigers were third in the league and eighth nationally in total defense (286.8 ypg). For the season, the Tigers allowed only 18.3 points a contest, which ranked 15th in the nation.

As LSU's linebacker coach, Muschamp put on the field two one of the nation's top defenders in Trev Faulk and Bradie James. Faulk and James were both semifinalist for the Butkus Award and both were named First-Team All-SEC during their careers. James capped his senior season in 2002 with a school-record 154 tackles.

Muschamp's promotion to defensive coordinator marks the second time he has held such a position at the collegiate level. Prior to joining the Tigers, Muschamp served as the defensive coordinator at Valdosta State for one year in 2000. Muschamp helped lead the Blazers to a 10-2 overall mark, a share of the Gulf South Conference title and an appearance in the NCAA Division II playoffs.

Prior to his year at Valdosta State, Muschamp spent the 1999 season coaching the secondary at Eastern Kentucky. Muschamp served as the secondary coach for West Georgia in 1998. From 1995-1997, Muschamp was a graduate assistant coach at Auburn.

Muschamp was a four-year letterwinner at Georgia from 1991-1994 and he served as co-captain of the defense as a senior. In four years with the Bulldogs, Muschamp played in two bowl games, helping Georgia to a 24-15 win over Arkansas in the 1991 Independence Bowl and a 21-14 victory over Ohio State in the 1993 Citrus Bowl. Muschamp earned a spot on the SEC Academic Honor Roll in 1993.

Following his graduation from Georgia in 1994, Muschamp moved to Auburn where he spent the next two seasons as a graduate assistant coach. Muschamp earned his master's degree from Auburn in 1997. While at Auburn, Muschamp coached with current LSU offensive coordinator Jimbo Fisher and former Tiger defensive line coach Pete Jenkins.

Muschamp is a native of Rome, Ga., and he is married to the former Carol Davis of Thomaston, and the couple has one child, Jackson.

Leroy Ryals

Tight Ends

LeRoy Ryals will hold a dual role for the Tigers in 2004, serving as the tight ends coach while also assisting Derek Dooley with the LSU special teams.

Ryals joined the Tigers in February after serving as an assistant coach at South Florida for four years. Ryals coached running backs for the Bulls, while also playing a key role in South Florida's recruiting efforts.

Ryals is a 1996 business education graduate of South Florida. He earned his master's degree in school counseling from Florida in 2001.

At South Florida, Ryals helped the Bulls to four consecutive winning seasons, including a 9-2 mark in 2002.

Prior to his four years at South Florida, Ryals served as head coach at Booker High School in Sarasota, Fla., from 1994-99. In addition to his head football coaching duties, Ryals served as the athletic director at Booker High School for three years from 1997-99 before joining the staff at South Florida.

Stacy Searels

Offensive Line

Stacy Searels, a former first-team All-America lineman at Auburn, begins his second season with the Tigers in 2004. Searels joined the LSU staff in January of 2003.

In his first season at LSU, Searels coached an offensive line that ranked among the finest in school history as the Tigers had two players earn All-America honors with another recognized as an Academic All-American.

Last year, senior guard Stephen Peterman earned first-team All-America honors, while junior center Ben Wilkerson was a second-team All-America pick by the Associated Press. In addition, senior tackle Rodney Reed became LSU's first two-time First-Team Academic All-America.

In all, the Tiger offensive line paved the way for a 1,000-yard rusher in Justin Vincent, while also limiting opponents to only 22 sacks in 14 games. The Tigers held their opponent without a sack in four of the last five regular-season contests.

Searels joined the staff at LSU after a two-year stint as offensive line coach at Cincinnati. During his two-year stay with the Bearcats, Cincinnati played in two bowl games as well as winning the school's first conference title since 1964 by capturing the 2002 Conference USA crown.

In 2002, Searels coached an offensive line that helped Cincinnati lead Conference USA in total offense (397.5 yards per game), while averaging 29.2 points a contest.

Prior to joining Cincinnati, Searels served as an assistant coach at Appalachian State from 1994-2000, helping the I-AA squad to five playoff appearances and to a pair of Southern Conference titles. He also coached players to five All-America and 15 all-conference honors in seven years as an offensive line and tight ends coach at Appalachian State.

Searels got his start in coaching as a graduate assistant at Auburn in 1992, working with the Tiger squad that posted a perfect 11-0 mark in 1993.

As a player, Searels earned first-team All-America honors from both the Associated Press and Football News as a senior at Auburn in 1987. Searels was a three-year starter for Auburn, blocking for Heisman Trophy winner Bo Jackson in 1985 and All-America Brent Fullwood in 1986. He participated in four bowl games as a member of the Auburn football team.

A first-team All-Southeastern Conference selection as both a junior and senior, he was honored with the team's Ken Rice Award as the school's best blocking lineman in 1987. He played in both the Japan Bowl and the Senior Bowl following the 1987 season.

In 1990, the Birmingham Post-Herald named Searels to the Auburn team of the 1980's.

Searels was a fourth-round draft pick by the San Diego Chargers in 1988, playing two seasons there before moving to the Miami Dolphins for the 1990 season. He ended his professional career in 1991 with the New York/New Jersey Knights of the World League of American Football.

Searels, a Trion, Ga. native, graduated from Auburn in with a degree in marketing and transportation in 1990. He followed that with a master's degree in higher education administration from Auburn in 1995.

Searels is married to the former Patricia Hale and the couple has two daughters, Taylor (6) and Savannah (3).

Kirby Smart

Defensive Backs

Kirby Smart, who served as a defensive assistant the last two years at Florida State, will coach defensive backs for LSU in 2004 after joining the Tigers in January of this year.

Smart, a 1998 graduate of Georgia, worked primarily with the defensive backs for the Seminoles serving as a graduate assistant in both 2002 and 2003. Prior to that, Smart spent the 2001 season as the defensive coordinator at Valdosta State and the 2000 season as the defensive backs coach for the Blazers.

Smart's 2001 defense at Valdosta State ranked second in the nation in scoring as the Blazers posted a perfect 11-0 mark during the regular season.

Smart was a four-year football letterwinner for Georgia from 1995-98 earning first-team All-Southeastern Conference honors as a defensive back in 1998 and second team honors in 1997. Smart, who was Georgia's team captain as a senior, led the Bulldogs in interceptions over his last two years with six in 1997 and five in 1998.

He still ranks among Georgia's all-time leaders in interceptions with 13.

Smart played on the same Georgia team as two current Tiger assistants in defensive coordinator Will Muschamp and defensive line coach Travis Jones. Smart and Muschamp also coached together for one year at Valdosta State.

Upon his graduation from Georgia, Smart signed a free agent contract with the Indianapolis Colts, spending the 1999 preseason with the NFL team. Smart began his coaching career as an administrative assistant at Georgia in the fall of 1999, before moving to Valdosta State in 2000.

Smart, a native of Brainbridge, Ga., graduated from Georgia with a 3.5 grade point average in finance. He was a four-time member of the SEC Academic Honor Roll as well as earning second-team Academic All-America honors in 1998. Smart, 28, is single.

Bobby Williams

Associate Head Coach/ Wide Receivers

Bobby Williams, the former head coach at Michigan State, will coach the LSU wide receivers as well as serving as associate head coach for the Tigers in 2004. Williams was hired in January after spending a season with the Detroit Lions. Williams coached under Saban for five years at Michigan State and then later, replaced Saban as head coach at the school.

Prior to coaching the NFL's Lions, Williams had a three-year head coaching stint at Michigan State. While at Michigan State, Williams guided the Spartans to a 16-17 overall record, which included a 7-5 mark in 2001. Williams coached the Spartans to a 37-34 win over Florida in the 2000 Citrus Bowl in his first game as a head coach.

Williams then led Michigan State to a 44-35 victory over Fresno State in the Silicon Valley Football Classic to cap the 2001 season.

Prior to taking over as head coach at Michigan State, Williams served as an assistant coach for the Spartans from 1990-99, where he coached running backs. During his 10 years as Michigan State's running backs coach, the Spartans had seven 1,000-yard rushers.

Williams has also had coaching stints at Purdue (graduate assistant, 1982), Ball State (running backs and defensive backs, 1983-84) and Eastern Michigan (offensive backfield, 1985-89).

Prior to joining the staff at Michigan State, Williams spent four months coaching wide receivers at Kansas in 1990.

Williams is a 1982 graduate of Purdue University with a degree in general management. At Purdue, Williams earned four letters as a running back/defensive back for the Boilermakers helping his team to nine wins in 1978, 10 victories in 1979 and nine in 1980. Purdue won three bowl games during Williams' career, beating Georgia Tech in the Peach Bowl in 1978, Tennessee in the Bluebonnet Bowl in 1979 and Missouri in the Liberty Bowl in 1980.

Williams, who served as one of three team captains as a senior, still ranks among Purdue's all-time leaders with eight interceptions.

Williams, a native of St. Louis, is married to the former Sheila Lee of Detroit. The couple has two children, Natly (15) and Nicholas (11).

- TheInsiders.com Safeties (47)
- The Baton Rouge Advocate Super Dozen
- The Times-Picayune's Top 20 Blue Chip List
- Two-time LHSAA 3A All-State Honorable Mention

One of the state's underrated players in 2003 ... A tall, physical, aggressive defensive back who likes to hit hard ... Projects to play at safety for the Tigers ... Very unselfish and disciplined ... Versatile, all-around athlete who played at safety, quarterback and wide receiver during his prep career ... Made the move from quarterback to wide receiver midway through his junior year ... Racked up 562 yards with 28 catches and six touchdowns as a senior ... Named to the Baton Rouge Advocate Super Dozen and to the New Orleans Times-Picayune's Top 20 Blue Chip List ... All-district selection who helped the Demons to a 7-5 record and a state regional appearance in 2003 ... One of the highest recruited players to ever come out of Franklinton ... Runs a 4.6 40-yard dash ... Coached by Shane Smith ... Born July 13, 1985.

Tim Washington

6-4, 270, Defensive End
Sugar Land, Texas
John Foster Dulles High School

Outstanding defensive end out of Texas ... Considered to be one of the best prep defensive linemen in the state of Texas ... Recorded 55 tackles and six sacks despite breaking his right foot midway through his senior season ... Part of a defensive unit that led the Tigers to a first round playoff berth in 2002 ... Extremely strong (380 pound bench press) and quick (4.7 40-yard dash) for his size ... Enormous 82-inch wingspan ... Multi-sport athlete who was also a varsity letterman in basketball and track ... Signed with LSU last February, but came up short in being qualified academically ... Coached by Jim Creech ... Born July 16, 1984.

Claude Wroten

6-3, 315, Defensive Tackle
Moorhead, Miss.
Miss. Delta Community College

One of the top-10 junior college prospects in the nation ... Extremely talented and gifted defensive tackle primed for a breakout season ... Great quickness off the ball ... Rated by Collegefootballnews.com as the No. 7 junior college prospect in 2003 ... Recorded 53 tackles, 15 sacks, three forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries in 2003 ... Bench presses 370 pounds and squats 550 pounds ... Runs an amazing 4.9 40-yard dash for his size ... Originally a two-year letterman at Bastrop High School who signed with Northwestern State ... Got bigger, stronger and faster and is now currently enrolled at LSU and will be able to compete in spring drills ... Coached by Jay Miller ... Born Sept. 16, 1983.

P.J. Zimmerman

6-4, 220, Deep Snapper
New Orleans, La.
Jesuit

Excellent deep snapper prospect out of Jesuit High School ... Called by many as one of the top long snappers to come out of Louisiana in years ... His talents were recognized by Prokicker.com, recognizing the nation's top long snapper recruits ... Also an underrated tight end who helped Jesuit to a 10-3 record and a quarterfinal playoff appearance in Class 5A ... Bench presses 340 pounds and squats 485 pounds ... Runs a 4.78 40-yard dash ... Coached by Vic Eumont ... Born April 7, 1986.

2003 NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Behind a suffocating defense that limited the nation's top scoring offense to only 154 yards, the Tigers claimed their second national title in football with a 21-14 win over Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl. The victory in the BCS National Championship contest marked LSU's first national title since 1958 and also sent the Tigers, champions of the Southeastern Conference, to a final overall record of 13-1. Running back Justin Vincent earned MVP honors for the game, rushing for 117 yards and one touchdown in leading the Tigers to the victory. Vincent opened the contest with a 64-yard run on the game's first play, opening the door for what appeared to be an early LSU TD. However, quarterback Matt Mauck fumbled the snap on first-and-goal at the 1-yard line to halt the Tiger drive. The Tigers did score on their next possession, which was setup by a Corey Webster interception that gave LSU the ball at the OU 32-yard line. Three plays later, Sklyer Green went 24-yards on an end-around, giving the Tigers a 7-0 advantage. The Sooners tied the game at 7-7 midway through the second quarter on a 1-yard plunge by Kejuan Jones, which was setup by a blocked punt. The Tigers led 14-7 at halftime following an 18-yard run by Vincent. LSU struck again early in the second half as Marcus Spears returned an interception 20 yards for a TD just 47 seconds into the third quarter, giving the Tigers a 21-7 advantage. A defensive struggle continued for most of the second half before the Sooners pulled to within 21-14 on another 1-yard run by Jones with just over 11 minutes left in the contest. The teams traded possessions for the next five minutes before the Sooners mounted a drive deep inside LSU territory. OU had first-and-10 at the LSU 12-yard line before the Tigers turned the Sooners away on four straight plays, including a fourth-and-10 situation with 2:52 to play. After another three and out for the Tigers on offense, the Sooners had one final chance. However, the Tigers held the Sooners at bay, sacking quarterback Jason White on fourth-and-10 to secure the victory and the school's first national title in football in 45 years. Defensively, linebacker Lionel Turner led LSU with nine tackles, including a pair of sacks, one of which came on the last offensive play of the game for the Sooners. In all, LSU recorded five sacks in the contest and held the Sooners to only 54 yards rushing.
